If it is for consumption, it is not recommended to come into direct contact with the food, except if it is just for taking pictures.

Grease paper is required to hold food. Just clean it with daily detergent. Avoid steel wool and heating.

The surface has anti-rust treatment, please do not wash it at high temperature. For daily tableware use, it is recommended to put oil paper on the plate and dry it after cleaning. There may be scratches, uneven colors, batch color differences, etc. on the surface of distressed products. These are not defects. It has its own unique old-fashioned feel, please don't take pictures if you mind

USE & CARE

Before cooking, apply vegetable oil to the cooking surface of your pan and pre-heat slowly

Once the utensil is properly pre-heated, you are ready to cook

A low to medium temperature setting is sufficient for the majority of cooking applications

A vegetable oil coating is especially suitable for cast iron cookware for frying or searing.

It allows the excellent heat conduction properties of cast iron to be retained and to also protect the cookware from rust

Do not wash this piece of cookware in the dishwasher

Washing in the dishwasher will strip the seasoning and cause the pan to rust

After cooking, clean your pan with a nylon brush or sponge and hot water

Towel dry immediately and apply a light coating of oil to the pan while it is still warm

Store in a cool, dry place

Never put a hot cast iron pan into cold water, as thermal shock can occur causing the pan to warp or crack

Cast iron gets very hot during use, always use oven mitts or pot holders to lift your cookware.

CLEANING & CARE

Wash cast iron by hand with a nylon brush or sponge and hot water. If needed, use a pan scraper for stuck on bits. You can use a little detergent to wash your pan, however, too much detergent may wear away the seasoning effect on the pan, especially if it is not fully seasoned.

For extra sticky situations, simmer a little water for 1 minute, then use the scraper after cooled.

Dry promptly and thoroughly with a lint-free cloth or paper towel.

Rub with a very light layer of cooking oil while the cookware is still warm.

This protects the pan from rusting.

Hang or store cookware in a dry place.

The surface of the cookware is not impervious, therefore do not wash the cookware in the dishwasher as it will destroy the seasoning and cause the pan to rust.
